Design Concept & Process:

This quilt was inspired by a euphorbia plant in my front yard, a green plant with green blooms. I started by taking a photograph of the plant. Using Corel Draw on my computer, I eliminated the background and painted out anything else in the photograph that I didn’t want to quilt. For the background I photographed one of my hand painted fabrics from the 1990’s. The composite design was printed on cotton fabric by Spoonflower. The euphorbia blossoms and leaves are quilted in matching thread colors. The background is quilted with bobbin weight black thread.
