Design Concept and Process:

This quilt is a study in intersecting color and value gradations. In the “Flying Geese” triangles, and the spiky templates, each color in the rainbow is juxtaposed against its opposite (complement) on the color wheel. The background fabrics are from the “Glacier Park” collection from Benartex, designed by Caryl Bryer Fallert.

The outline of a bird began the quilting in each of the triangles. Many other free motion quilting patterns were used in the surrounding templates.
